EVENT DESCRIPTION

March 18-20, 2021

ISJAC is pleased to present Un[chart]ed Territory in March 2021. While not a replacement for the immensely successful Jazz Composers' Symposium (postponed to 2022), Un[chart]ed Territory seeks to inspire, motivate, facilitate conversation, and serve as a conduit for creativity and collaboration - much like our flagship in-person conference.

Un[chart]ed Territory will run virtually for three consecutive evenings (plus a Saturday afternoon) in March 2021 with both synchronous and asynchronous sessions that include the celebration of our recent Owen Prize for Jazz Composition and Prize for Emerging Black Composers winners, the induction of the 2021 ISJAC Hall of Fame class, all-star panel discussions, networking opportunities, chats with elite guest composer artists, a very special pre-recorded capstone performance, and a creative opportunity for patrons to have conversations about their recent project or check out the new work/research of other composers and arrangers that they admire.

ISJAC HALL OF FAME

Induction Panel Discussions

We are excited to be celebrating the induction of five new ISJAC Hall of Fame composers. Two of this year's class, Herbie Hancock and Bill Holman, will be recognized by a panel of experts on the Saturday afternoon of Un[chart]ed Territory.

The other 2021 inductees are Gil Evans, Charles Mingus, and Billy Strayhorn. They join past inductees' Carla Bley, Chick Corea, Duke Ellington, Thad Jones, Thelonious Monk, Wayne Shorter, and Mary Lou Williams.

SPONSORSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

Support Us!

We are looking for arts-supporting businesses and organizations to help us make this event truly special for our community. Your involvement would help highlight the importance of stimulating the creation and dissemination of new works, recognizing truly exemplary existing works and artists, and supporting a community of creatives that have been hit exceptionally hard during the 2020 pandemic and political/racial unrest.

This event will be free for all ISJAC members - currently a congregation just shy of 1,700 members from more than 45 countries. Our membership is comprised of freelance artists, educators, students, jazz aficionados, industry executives, and combinations of all the above.
